Well done Sriraja Y and Prakriti Ailavadi!

Paul Hindle thinks you're doing an amazing job and making a real difference. To celebrate your outstanding determination to live our values, you've been recognised for Working together.

What did you do that was brilliant?
Problem Management approached Sri and Prakriti to explore the potential for an Artificial Intelligence solution to analyse Problem Records and identify trends in service impacting incidents. Their support has been superb, and by sharing their knowledge of the techniques for analysing data and building the solutions to provide results for further analysis, they have given Problem Management a great view of the potential that AI has for future analysis of trends. Thanks very much both.

Early Career Challenge

The Early Career Challenge is an annual event where the UK apprentices, graduates from India and the UK, come together to generate ideas on a given theme.

In 2020, a total of 276 participants took part in the challenge launched by Alison Rose in September with the theme, "Supporting our purpose, create an innovative solution for customers, communities or colleagues to make a better post COVID-19 world."

This was the first time the challenge was promoted across NatWest Group India and witnessed a total of 81 participants, making it internationally diverse and mixed. The grand finale was judged by Punit Sood, Gemma Willman, Kevin Hanley, and Kristen Bennie.
